Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 21-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Pat. No. 4,906,573.

Applicant's claims are drawn to a culture medium that contains a nutrient broth, a pH indicator dye, and two buffers each having a different pKa. The buffers are specified as a phosphate salt and an acetate salt.

Application/Control Number: 10/090,039 Page 3

Art Unit: 1651

US '573 teaches a culture medium that contains a nutrient medium and an acetate buffer and a phosphate buffer (see column 1, lines 43-58). The culture media contains less phosphate buffer than it does acetate buffer. It contains 3.0 grams of acetate buffer (listed as potassium acetate) and 0.4 grams of phosphate buffer (listed as KH₂PO₄ and K₂HPO₄) (see Table 1, "BMB" formulation). US '573 does not teach adding a pH indicator dye to the culture medium. However, the medium of US '573 is designed to detect the growth of microorganisms. It is well known in the art to use pH indicator dyes, such as Bromocresol Purple, to detect when microorganism growth has occurred. Therefore, an artisan of ordinary skill would have understood that it would be beneficial to add an indicator dye, such as Bromocresol Purple, to the media of US '573 in order to detect when microorganism growth has occurred. Thus, a person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify the culture medium of US '573 by adding a pH indicator dye.

US '573 also does not specifically teach using sodium acetate as the source of the acetate salt buffer. However, sodium acetate was known in the art at the time of the invention to function as a buffer. Therefore, it is considered an obvious modification of the media taught by US '573 to substitute sodium acetate for the potassium acetate taught in the reference.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following US Patents were cited in the parent application, US Pat. Appl. Number 09/699,728: US Pat. Nos. 4,291,122, 4,743,537, 4,914,034, 5,073,488, 5,552,320, 5,601,998, 5,866,356, and 5,968,807.
